The number of rebel troops at Harper's Ferry he estimates at 8,000. This includes all within five miles of the railroad bridge. These are all equipped, with the exception of about 1,000, who are but partially supplied with arms. At least 4,000 of these men have only flint-leck muskets. The bulk of these men are all texamped on the heights west of the village. They have one battery of two six-pounders and one thirty-two pounder, all on the Mayland heights. They have four batteries overlooking the bridge, and three quarters of a mile to three miles distant. These command the approaches from Manassas Capt. Ward of the Freeborn was down the

Everything is quiet on the Vn ginia side today but a further advence of troop s will doubless take place within the next. 48 hours. Gen. owell is engaged day and night in prepar-is command for a march on Fairfax vancing troops to repair the Orang e and Alexandria Rail Reed; and telegraphic communication will be immediately e stab-lished between Fairfax C. H. and Alexan uria as soon as the former shall be occupied. The Government has positive informat, on Junction on the approach of Federal troops, without offering resistance. The first great encounter may, therefore, be expected to take place at the Junction, to which our troops will be advanced as soon as the country between Alexandria and the Court House is fully cleared of rebels.

Last right the Federal guards discovered several individuals prowling about the depot. They were captured, when one of them confessed that they had been about attempting to remove contraband articles hid-sway in one of the freight cars seized after the occupation of Alexandria. The car was examined, when a lot of gun stocks and barrels, and machinery for manufacturing locks, worth several thou-sand dollars, were cound.

From Baltimore.

Baltimore, June 3.—Gov. Hicks this moraling demanded and received the musicole of the Baltimore City Guards, one hundred and sity-nine, and had them conveyed to Fort McHonry. Several men about to start for Harper's Ferry, were arrested this morning and taken to the Fort. A dispatch from Harper's Ferry says a general impression prevalled that there would soon be a fight there. Between 2000 and 3,000 troops were encampted in the suburbs. They were visited on Thursday by Jeft Davis and his aids.

At Mannessas Junction our informant ascertained that there were from 2,000 to 3,000 troops stationed when he passed through. There were 5,000 more employed along the road to within seven miles of Fairfax Court House.

We have had many inquiries from dur readcre for information concerning the privateers We have had many inquiries from our readcrs for information concerning the privateers that have been fitted out, or are now fitting out, at this port, and the prizes that have been taken; and atthough we do not think it propor to publish all the particulars that are in our precession, we see no objection to giving a list of the prize vessels. They are seven in number, those captured by the armed steamship Calhoun, and two each by the steamers Mapic and V. H. Lyv, and represent a total value of about $170,000, a pretity good beginning for three privateers. The prosecution for their condemnation and sale is already parting before the Confederate States District

PROCEEDINGS IN THE COURTS Appropriate Action of the Common Council.

The Masonic Fraternity The Remains to Lie in State at Bryan Hall.

The instillations of the decease of the Ulex flow State of the Country, and the Country of the C iety of his friends has been incessant, until their worst fears are realized in his decease, which took place resterday morning.

It was not until some ten days since that Senator Douglas' illness assumed an alarming type. From the first he had been attended, by some of our best medical talent, and latterly it was thought desirable to summon hither Dr. Miller of Washington, in whose care Mr. Douglas had passed through former severe illnesses. Dr. Miller and the Washington relatives of Mrs. Douglas reached Chicago on the 25th ultrand since then have been closely in attendance upon him.

Throughout the latter part of last week, Mr. Douglas's condition was deemed extremely critical, with the chances against his recovery. His primary attack was acute rheumatiam, which rapidly assumed a typhold character, and continued from the first very unyielding. After some ten or twelve days, his malady was complicated by an ulcerated sore throat, which soon yielded. Torpor of the liver and constipation of the bowels consued, soon followed by a jaundiced condition, accompanied by polsoning of the blood, which prostrated his nervous system still more.

A wandering and delirious state accompanied his lilness more or less from its inception to its fatal close. At such times as he was rational last week, he seemed aware of the grave fears entertained in his behalf, and on once occasion said to those about him, that he knew his constitution so much better than one occasion said to those about him, that he knew his constitution so much better than they did, he felt confident he should recover from the attack. Doubtless his will and courage, joined to his great physical powers, had much to do with his so long continuing to relate the best with his so long continuing to relate the best with his so long continuing to relate the best with his so long continuing to relate the best with the Common Council, and cooperate in any action they might deem proper, was adopted. R. T. Merrick, Eq., moved the appropriate of a committee of five to relate the constituted authorities.

age, joined to his great physical powers, had much to do with his so long continuing to resist a makedy before which feebler men would have rapidly succumbed.

Throughout Saturday it was feared he could not survive many hours. As night fall drew near, without any positive change having taken place in his disease, he yet seemed easier, and so passed the night. He had only brief intervals of consciousness gifer this, but lay in a quies state, gradually but survely sinking. At times he briefly rallied but it was, not to a clear conception of what was transpiring about him. On one occasion indeed it was evident that memory and habit of mind was strong in the dying statesmen, and that his thoughts were once more in the Senate Chamber. One of his physicians Dr. Hay was administering a blister. What are you doing? asked the patient, "stop, there are twenty against me, the measure is defeated."

At an early hour yesterday morning he had an intered of rallying, was rational, conversed briefly with those about him and then sank gastly and quietly until ten minutes past 9 a. M. when he breathed his last quietly, and without a struggle.

His devoted and loving wife remained with him to the last moment. Madison Cutts, his brother he-law, Miss Young of the Tremont House, E. G. Caulfield, and Dr. Hay were alopes.
